Index-Catalogue of the Library of the Surgeon-General's Office, U.S. Army: Authors and Subjects

Series 1-3. Washington, D.C., 1880-1932

"Invaluable as a bibliographical tool in this field."

—Walford, Guide to Reference Material

The Index Catalogue is a dictionary catalog (authors and subjects) which lists the contents of one of the largest medical libraries in the world. It covers approximately half a million items—books, pamphlets, and a large number of references to periodical articles and other analytics. Many biographical entries are also included. The scope and detail of the Index Catalogue make it of inestimable value to medical libraries and those in the medical professions, not to mention scholars and professionals in related areas of public health, pharmacology, social sciences, social welfare, and the history of the sciences.

"This monumental catalog is a very important bibliography of all aspects of the subject. One of its special uses is for medical biography, as it indexes a large number of biographical and obituary articles."

—Winchell, Guide to Reference Books

A London Bibliography of the Social Sciences, VOLUMES XV-XXI 1962-68

In the broad field of the social sciences no other work of the size and scope of the London Bibliography exists.

The present supplement to the series begun in 1931 records the 1962-68 acquisitions of the British Library of Political and Economic Science of the London School of Economics.

It occupies a greater number of volumes than any preceding supplement and contains well over 100,000 entries arranged under some 38,000 headings and sub-headings.

A comprehensive index is provided in volume xxi.

A special feature of this up-to-date, wide-ranging bibliography of recent literature is the inclusion of an exceptionally large amount of earlier material, which should prove particularly helpful to students of the development of economic thought and political theory, and to economic and social historians.

Seven volumes 279 x 216 mm. Approx. 5,400 pages and 100,000 entries

Rand fields of research, in addition to strategic and tactical studies and studies of military manpower and training, encompass communications policy, education, criminal justice, health care, transportation, environmental quality, international development, and technological research and development, including computer science, electronics, nuclear physics, aeronautics and astronautics. Rand publications report the results of this research, with studies on subjects of such immediate interest as performance contracting in education, the growth of private police in the U.S., cable television, climate dynamics, U.S.-China relations, and new computer technology at home and abroad.

Rand publications—more than 400 reports and papers a year—are available by annual subscription to libraries and special information centers throughout the world. New publications are mailed continuously, keeping a growing academic and professional audience informed of Rand's latest research findings. This service costs $300 per year in the U.S. and $325 abroad—a single charge that includes all shipping costs. Inquiries and orders should be directed to The Rand Subscription Library Program, Publications Department, The Rand Corporation, 1700 Main Street, Santa Monica, California 90406.

Rand publications may also be obtained individually, using the quarterly journal Selected Rand Abstracts as a guide to current research reports and papers. SRA is available without charge to libraries and other campus or corporate information centers. Truth in the Sciences

By SCOTT BUCHANAN who taught at the University of Virginia and St. John's College in Annapolis. xxiii, 177 pp., index. $7.50

Scott Buchanan, scholar, philosopher, and educator of the twentieth century, was concerned about seeing Western thought as a unified whole. Although modern science is a derivation of ancient and medieval traditions in the liberal arts, the two fields are presently separated by science's private mathematical language. Buchanan tries to renew the kinship between science and the humanities by exploring those works written by well-known classical authors that relate to mathematics and natural science. He reflects upon the thoughts of these major authors, from Aristotle and Ptolemy to Faraday, Darwin, Maxwell, James, and Freud. He shows their relationships to each other, their impact on the development of science and on general trends of man's thinking. His study clarifies the language of science for the common man, allowing him to grasp the truths of all aspects of human knowledge—science, mathematics, linguistics, poetry, and philosophy.

The Collapse of Orthodoxy

The Intellectual Ordeal of George Frederick Holmes

By NEAL C. GILLESPIE, Georgia State University. x, 273 pp., illus., bibliog., index. $9.50

The Collapse of Orthodoxy is the only complete biography of George Frederick Holmes, the first president of the University of Mississippi and later professor of history and political economy at the University of Virginia. He spent his life conveying to Americans new ideas from nineteenth-century Europe. As a distinguished essayist, reviewer, and teacher of history, literature, and economics, Holmes contributed much to the thinking of his times. His philosophical debates—particularly those with Comte about positivism—are vividly described here and are of considerable importance.

Party Strength in the United States, 1872-1970

By PAUL T. DAVID, University of Virginia. xiii, 310 pp.

$9.75

Election records from 1872 to 1970 for the offices of president, governor, senator, and representative to Congress are published here in a usable form for the first time. Paul T. David began this study by calculating the percentage divisions of the vote among Democratic, Republican, and other candidate parties. Using this as a basis, he was able to devise a new and more accurate method of measuring long-term trends in party strength at the polls for each state. These trends make up almost two hundred pages of graphic material in which states are analyzed individually, nationally, regionally, and in special groups according to their long-term partisan affiliations. This compilation of numerical data and its accompanying text is an indispensable reference work for anyone interested in election history in the United States.

Privacy in Colonial New England

By DAVID H. FLAHERTY, University of Virginia. xii, 287 pp., tables, bibliog., index. $12.50

Inspired by a growing concern for the assurance of individual privacy, this study undertakes to determine the role privacy played in the life of the colonial New Englander. Privacy as a value is examined thoroughly as it existed in the home, family, and neighborhood, and contact with the broader institutions of religion, government, and the courts. Flaherty's study of a concept which Americans until recently have almost unconsciously valued is an important step toward meeting the present challenges to its preservation.

ATTENTION: ENGINEERING & TECHNICAL INFORMATION DEPTS.

A UNIQUE AND SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY MICRO-PUBLISHING OFFER

The ever increasing flood of catalog and technical data has posed a serious problem for the nations engineering and information service departments. It has created a need for new systems to handle the storage and retrieval of catalog data.

The MPS MICRO-CATALOG LIBRARY FILE—successor to Thomas Micro-Catalogs—represents the most viable and yet least expensive vendor catalog system available.

The 2nd Edition of this File offers your library a very broad but representative selection of product data on microfiche. Made up of over 150 large industrial firms in the U.S.—the 400 microfiche comprising the File provide an invaluable collection for technical and business libraries, municipal and university libraries, and engineering and technical institutes or departments.

As a SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER to first time subscribers—MPS is offering to those ordering the 2nd Edition at the published $250.00 price—the 1st Edition as an extra—NO COST—bonus.

This 1st Edition, today being used by scores of libraries and institutions, is made up of completely different companies and is not duplicated within the 2nd Edition. By taking advantage of this special offer—you obtain a collection of 800 microfiche—comprised of 265 individual companies—some 40,000 pages of product information. A $500.00 VALUE FOR $250.00!!

A comprehensive index covering both Editions is included in the price. This index breaks down the catalogs into over 470 product categories and like the File, will perpetuate a growing and very extensive INFORMATION RETRIEVAL SYSTEM.

Education: Phillips Exeter Academy, student, 1920-24; Yale University, B.A. 1928, M.A. 1930, "Conservative anarchist."

CAREER: Fortune Magazine, New York, N.Y., staff writer, 1929-36; Partisan Review, New York, N.Y., editor, 1938-43; Politics, New York, N.Y., editor and publisher, 1944-49; New Yorker, New York, N.Y., staff writer, 1951-; Esquire, New York, N.Y., film critic, 1960-66, political columnist, 1966-. Visiting professor, University of Texas, 1966, University of California at Santa Cruz 1969, University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee, 1970, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, 1971. Founder and chairman, Spanish Reform Aid, 1939-40. Member, American WRITINGS: The Root Is Man: Two Essays in Political Criticism, 1953; Henry Wallace, the Man and the Myth, Vanguard, 1948; The Ford Foundation: The Men and the Millions, Reynal, 1956; Memoirs of a Revolutionist: Essays in Political Criticism, Farrar, Straus, 1957; (editor) Parodies: An Anthology from Chaucer to Brecht, Bohm and After, Random House, 1960; Masculi and Midcult, Partisan Review, 1961; Our Invisible Poor (originally published in New Yorker), Sidney Hillman Foundation, c. 1962; Against the American Grain, Random House, 1962; (compiler) The Poems of Edgar Allan Poe, Crowell, 1965; Dwight Macdonald on Movies, Prentice-Hall, 1969; Politics: Past, Grossman, 1969. Contributor to many periodicals, including Encounter, Film Heritage.

SIDELIGHTS: Respected as a critic both in the U.S. and abroad, Macdonald has undergone a variety of political stances since his journalistic career began in 1929. He once remarked: "The speed with which I evolved from a liberal into a radical and from a tepid Communist sympathizer into an ardent anti-Stalinist still amazes me." In 1944 he started his own political periodical, Politics, a publication in which he wished "to create a center of consciousness on the Left, welcoming all varieties of radical thought..." "Among the contributors were Albert Camus, Victor Segal, Simone Weil, Nicole Tucci, C.

NEW VOLUME OF "CA" HAS JUST BEEN PUBLISHED!

New Issue Includes Cumulative Index to All 28,000 Writers in the Series

With the publication of the new volume, the Contemporary Authors series contains bio-bibliographical sketches of 28,000 authors in all fields, except technical writers. This unparalleled reference source includes detailed sketches on over 20,000 authors who are listed nowhere else.

Taken from the new issue, the entry on Dwight Macdonald illustrates the scope of entries in CA. The complete entry, which runs to nearly two columns, furnishes the following information:

PERSONAL FACTS. Gives concise facts on Macdonald's parents, marriages, education, politics ("conservative anarchist"), religion (none), and his home address.

CAREER DATA. This section contains listings of positions, memberships, and awards and honors.

UNABRIDGED BIBLIOGRAPHY. Macdonald's books, contributions to composite volumes, etc., are listed, together with their dates of publication.

SIDELIGHTS. In this section representative selections from various critical appraisals and comments by Macdonald himself are woven into a comprehensive essay on the scholar-critic's achievement.

BIOGRAPHICAL/CRITICAL SOURCES. Lists books and articles that provide further insights into Macdonald's life, works, and critical stance.

WORK IN PROGRESS. A feature of most sketches, this section gives probable titles, publishers, and completion dates.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Designed expressly for young readers, this new series, modeled on CA, offers a worthwhile reading incentive and a genuine source of student satisfaction lacking in other bio-bibliographical reference works. Visually inviting, the volumes contain features of special appeal to youngsters: large, clear type... lack of abbreviations in sketches...

informal portraits of each author... animated illustrations from the authors' works... and, in each sketch, a side-lights section in which the author tells of his writings, hobbies, and other interests. About 200 authors and illustrators are covered in each volume. Order volumes 1 and 2 now; place a standing order for future volumes.

The warranty shown here should appear on all invoices for library binding. It is your assurance that each and every volume bound for your library by a Certified Library Binder has been done so in accordance with the LBI Standard. Absence of this warranty on any invoice indicates that the work is of a lesser quality.

Look for this warranty on your invoices, and be sure to specify a Certified Library Binder for all your binding requirements.

WARRANTY

We warrant that the binding covered by this invoice is LIBRARY BINDING and complies with all requirements of the LBI Standard For Library Binding except as noted on this invoice. This statement is made pursuant to Section 2.2 of the LBI Standard For Library Binding and Rules 1(c) and 4 of the Trade Practice Regulation For The Library Binding Industry, promulgated by the Federal Trade Commission August 20, 1954.
